Estonian Translation:

Helisege helded metsad	Ring out, generous forests
Hüüdke vastu hütikesed	Shout back the huts
Minu Kauni heale vastu	In return for my graceful voice
Lahedama laulu vastu	In return for my wonderful song
Kus mu healta kuuldaneksi	Where my voice is heard
Kus mu laulu laksuneksi	Where my song is sung
Seal kõik metsa murduneksi	There all forests will fall
Ilma rauda rabamata	Even without striking iron

Esti Dal (Magyar népal 1938).....Zoltán Kodály (1882-1967)

Hungarian Translation:

Erdő mellett estvéledtem,
Subám fejem alá töttem,
Őszszetëm két kezemet,
Úgy kértem jó Ishtenëmet:
Én Istenëm, adjál szállást,
Már meguntam a járkálást
a bujdosást,
Azidegen földön lakást.
Adjon Isten jó éjszakát,
Küldje hozzám szent angyalát
Bátorítsa szílvünk álmát,
Adjon Isten jó éjszakát,

At twilight I was near the forest,
I placed my cloak under my head,
I put my hands together
I prayed to my good God:
My God, give me a resting place,
I'm tired of wandering and hiding,
A stranger in a strange land
God, give me a good night
Send me my holy angel,
Grant me the dreams of my heart,
God, give me a good night.

Maria Rattia.....Don't Cry For Me Argentina (from Sunset Boulevard)

Concert Etiquette

Audience member responsibilities

- While waiting for the concert to begin, sit quietly. Talking is ok before the concert begins, but not during. Many people think that their whispering will be quiet enough for nobody to hear. That is not true. Everybody can hear it and it is distracting.
- Applaud after each FULL piece has been performed. Some pieces have more than one movement. If you're not sure, watch the conductor. Her arms will usually go down when the piece is over.
- Yelling, screaming, or calling out performer names is never appropriate during concert choir performances.
- If you have a paper concert program or cough drops/candies with wrappers, avoid rattling it during the performance.
- If you must leave, wait for the end of a piece. When returning, wait for the end of a piece.
- Silence all electronic devices.
- Photos are ok; videos are not ok; use discretion with flash photos as they can be distracting.
- Keep small children with you. If they are not able to remain quiet, please bring them to the cafeteria. Children under the age of three are not recommended in this atmosphere.
